The Study of the U.S. Branch (ECA/A/E/USS) is pleased to invite candidate nominations from posts for a winter 2024 Study of the U.S. Institute for Student Leaders from Argentina, Brazil, Chile, and Uruguay interested in the topic of Entrepreneurship and Economic Development. The five-week program will be conducted in English and will take place at the Institute for Training and Development (ITD) in Amherst, Massachusetts from January 13 to February 17, 2024. Should health, safety, and travel conditions pose significant challenges, the program will pivot to a modified virtual format.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW AND DESCRIPTION

Study of the U.S. Institutes (SUSIs) for Student Leaders are intensive short-term academic programs whose purpose is to provide groups of undergraduate student leaders with a deeper understanding of the United States while simultaneously enhancing their leadership skills. Each Institute hosts 20 participants. The Institutes consist of a four-week academic residency with a balanced series of seminar discussions, readings, group presentations, and lectures. Site visits, leadership development, cultural activities, and community service complement the coursework and academic sessions. If conditions allow, the Institutes will include a one-week integrated study tour in the United States. Note that if the program must take place virtually, participants will engage in similar activities but online from their home countries.

The SUSI on Entrepreneurship and Economic Development will provide participants with an overview of principles of entrepreneurship and social entrepreneurship by reviewing the development, history, challenges, and successes of U.S. enterprises, business leadership and women's economic empowerment, in the United States and globally. Topics may include, but are not limited to, social capital strategies for sustainable economic development, financial literacy, banking, microfinance, organizational development and management, innovation, emerging markets and risk analysis, strategic business planning, corporate social responsibility, and minorities in entrepreneurship. Specific program elements will include visits to community development organizations, economic development centers, a local makerspace, or a courthouse. Sessions cover debate techniques, the business model canvas, and art activism. The program includes travel to Boston and New York City and a study tour to Tucson, Arizona. Community service might include engagement at a food pantry.

Another Institute for Student Leaders from the Western Hemisphere on Women's Leadership for Indigenous and Afro-Latina Women will take place concurrently at a different host institution. The Institutes will conclude with a closing forum where participants from both Institutes will come together to network, discuss their action plans, and engage in conversations on relevant topics with U.S. Department of State officials. Please make these requirements clear to all nominees.

English Language Ability: English Language knowledge and/or proficiency are required to participate in this program. All candidates must be proficient in English so that they can actively participate in the academic program. Therefore, candidate interviews must be conducted in English. Housing and Meal Arrangements: Housing will be in shared or single university dorms on campus or full-service hotels within walking distance of most classroom activities. Male and female participants will be housed in separate quarters. In addition to regular group meals and a university meal plan, participants may have access to a kitchen to cook some meals on their own. It is important that nominees are aware of these arrangements and that they are comfortable with such accommodations.

Special Accommodations: Care will be taken to ensure that any special requirements regarding diet, daily worship, housing, and medical care are satisfied. Special accommodations will be made available to the greatest extent possible. Should a participant need to quarantine due to health and safety concerns, accommodations will follow Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and host institution guidelines.

Similarly, participants will not be permitted to leave the SUSI to visit relatives or friends while in the United States.
